LITERATURE REVIEW

Community Participation

Participation public refers to the willingness individual to participate, and ability they to reach objective personal or work the same in activity certain. According to understanding this, a individual can participate if he integrate himself to in his group through many processes with other people well from aspect values, customs customs, traditions, feelings, obedience, and mutual respect understanding.

Community participation in Islam is described as deliberation, which is one of the teachings of sharia which is well documented in the Koran and explains various aspects of human life. The concept of deliberation is the basis for upholding equal rights and obligations in human society, where one of the ways Muslims participate in society is through deliberation, which is explained in Surah Al-Imran verse 159: "So, thanks to Allah's grace, you (Prophet Muhammad) acted gently towards them. If you were harsh and harsh-hearted, they would certainly stay away from those around you. Therefore, forgive them, ask for forgiveness for them, and consult with them in all matters (important). Then, when you have made up your mind, put your trust in Allah. Indeed, Allah loves those who trust."

Based on the above, it can be concluded that participation refers to involvement and participation in a particular activity. Furthermore, participation is a community effort to contribute ideas and thoughts that each member of the community possesses.

According to Marhum & Meronda, nd (2021) , there are 4 forms of indicators that encompass the core theory of community participation in its role, namely:

1. Participation in decision-making. Community participation in decision-making within their region should be developed through platforms that enable communities to participate discreetly in the decision-making process for programs agreed upon in their respective regions.
2. Participation in the implementation of the developed program means that the implementation of the program or activity created is a continuation of the plan that has been completed.
3. In relation to this, it can be explained that one form of community participation can be carried out by the community providing input to help implement the program that has been created.
4. Participation in monitoring and evaluation. Public participation in monitoring and evaluating development programs and activities is crucial for determining whether the desired goals are aligned with the plan.
5. Participation in the Utilization of Results. Often, communities don't directly understand the benefits of each program they implement, resulting in wasted results.

Community Participation Factors

According to Angell's theory put forward in Lisdiana (2013) and (2017), there are three factors that influence public participation in general, namely:

1. Age significantly reduces a person's productivity, in contrast to older individuals, individuals who have children who have relatively more mature attitudes and behavior.
2. Gender, patriarchal culture which is still very strong in Indonesia still influences women's participation in community participation which is dominated by women's groups.
3. Education has been described as one of the most important learning tools for active participation. As education levels increase, people will undoubtedly have a more comprehensive understanding of design and construction and the types of participation they can offer. Perfect, but somewhat incomplete.

Benefits of Community Participation

According to Sagitta (2016), participation in decisions regarding benefits is a form of community support to participate and enjoy, but it is also believed that the community can participate in evaluating, analyzing, and interpreting the results of completed construction. Utilization of these development results is expected to increase community creativity, economic and social activities, and a sense of togetherness, which will ultimately result in more successful construction.

Tourism Village Development

Understanding development According to the General Dictionary of the Indonesian Language, it is a process, method or results development . More specifically explained in Indonesian Dictionary book by WJS Poerwadaminta that development is a process that makes all something , including mind and knowledge become pure .

Community development is development focuses on removing obstacles that do not contribute to specific goals. Community development involves change and conflict. Mass development aims to unite communities, create cohesive societies, and build participatory democracy. The ability of communities to communicate with community programs is known as community development.

Steps involved in developing a tourism area. Referring to the 2020 Tourism Village Guidebook, the steps for developing a tourism village are as follows:

1. Pioneering. Currently, one of the tourist villages still has the potential to develop into a tourism destination.
2. Developing. Currently, the Tourism Village is well-known among the general public and is able to accommodate visitors from both within and outside the country.
3. Progress. Today, the community has reached a new level in its tourism sector.
4. Independence is the most important phase in the development of a Tourism Village. Foreign countries have made Tourism Villages independent and developed sustainable tourism concepts that have gained international recognition.

According to the Ministry of Tourism in the Village Tourism Guidebook (2020), here are some principles of tourism development:

1. Authenticity. One of the highlights is the authentic activities that take place in the village.
2. Southeastern communities. This exhibition represents the traditional practices of the local community.

Attitudes and values are under development, and Tourism Villages remain steadfast in their legal systems and religious beliefs to uphold established norms. Preservation and support. Tourism Village development must take into account the country's carrying capacity and capacity.

The goal of tourism development is to generate benefits for both local communities and tourists. Tourism development in this area benefits both local communities and tourists. The benefits to the entire community encompass economic, social, and religious aspects. However, if the development project is not well planned and implemented, it can also create other problems that are detrimental to the community and workers.

According to Spillane in Meray (2016), there are several very important tourism components, namely:

1. Attractions (power pull) or attractions can classified as something incident or Location. The attraction of the site is location physique permanent , such as parks , museums, and animals gardens . Locations This found throughout the designated area for objective recreation . Meanwhile event attraction is ongoing activities in a way Keep going continuous and its location can accessible or visited with easy , such as festivals, exhibitions , or local events .
2. Facilities (required facilities) Facilities should near with the market so that everyone can focus on their daily activities at the location Sleeping, eating , and drinking by tourists quick stay in place purpose , because facility accommodation is very necessary .
3. Infrastructure . If not There is infrastructure base Power attraction and its facilities No can provided with easy , development infrastructure in the area it turns out certain show existence appreciation Good tourists both tourists and non- tourists .
4. Transportation is very important For reduce time and distance required in journey tourist In particular , transportation is highly valued throughout the world , both land , sea , and air , is aspect symptoms basic and non -basic tourism changed .
5. Friendliness Tamahan . Foreign tourists who need information about objective the tour that will be they come to related with tourists who are present in the area and are known to him need certainty guarantee security .

Development tour Power pull is objective For increase utilization various source Power tourism . Aspects certain things that are read outside tourism , whether secretly or No will hinder development something tour certain . Therefore that , object tour have ability For move free on a area certain . Therefore that , the identified location own capable power push traveler For visit and stay in the area the .

Forms of Community Participation in Development Tour

Participation public in development tour is a group of people who participate active in take decisions and provide contribution to each program or activities created , Participation public is one of the very important factor in the development process something tourism , because required Level of participation public to village tour In participation public need something approach between society that can help determine objective something development village tourism and the administrators village tour Good in a way individual and group more active in operate tasks for development village tour can reach expected goals .

Participation public is deliberation or collection idea public For reach something village growing tourism in accordance objectives . Factors that influence participation public is source Power social , cultural , environmental as well as group interest in policy tourism . The community plays a very important role active in manage implementation activity or programs in the Tourism Village Bromonilan .

Participation public in development village tour covers a number of vision related to potential development Based on that . results surveys and information available in the Tourism Village Bromonilan state that indicator participation public become something important in success development tour is indicator participation resident .

The research results obtained that the Tourism Village Bromonilan involving all over community and administrators village tour For play a role in development village tourism . Management village tour need have good reason For reach goals that have been set , and objectives said make a tourist village Bromonilan This more important and crucial for everyone for support development tour mentioned and more effective promote it .

Community Participation in Decision Making

Participation public in taking decision show that how far the taking successful decision achieved . According to Gaventa & Barret in Muflihah, et al., (2023) "Examining various outcomes of citizen involvement in decision-making processes in various contexts. They found that community participation can produce various positive outcomes such as increased accountability, transparency, and empowerment."

Decision-making through community participation is a step or action taken. One of the determining factors for the success of a tourism village is community participation in its development process. Therefore, the community also plays a crucial role in the development of a tourism village. Participation in decision-making regarding tourism management activities is carried out through internal and external meetings and deliberations.

The involvement and active participation of the Bromonilan Tourism Village community in decision-making is very important for activities held in the tourism village and inviting the community to participate in decision-making is very lacking. Several important parties are involved in the development of a tourism village. Decision-making can be defined as the level of success achieved through a specific effort in accordance with established objectives. The community participation indicator in decision-making is used to assess whether the decision-making process, based on community participation previously implemented in the Bromonilan village community, is effective in the future development of the tourism village.

Results study This demonstrates that Bromonilan Tourism Village has implemented various initiatives, and what is expected of it is its ongoing activities. It must conduct evaluations to address any shortcomings, ensuring continued progress and a return to attracting more visitors. In decision-making in Bromonilan Tourism Village, the process involves all village heads, tourism village managers, as well as local communities and other organizations involved in collaboration for decision-making related to the development of Bromonilan Tourism Village. Creating a healthy democracy, community participation in tourism village decision-making also demonstrates a sense of ownership and commitment to development. It is hoped that the community living in the village will be more proactive in providing assistance to direct the development of the tourism village and produce more successful and mature results, as well as strengthen the social, cultural, and democratic values within the village.

Participation in the Implementation of Activities or Programs Created

Participation in the implementation of a program or activity designed to assess a tourism village's capabilities in its future development, ensuring that this information is accessible to the general public. In accordance with the established and achieved vision and mission, as well as the desired results, Bromonilan Tourism Village has several programs to develop the tourism village, namely:

1. Promotion
The Bromonilan Tourism Village program or activities have the potential to highlight several issues that arise in tourism development, such as the need to promote tourism through various businesses and media.
2. Cooperation
Bromonilan Tourism Village has collaborated with Saka Pramuka so that now Bromonilan Tourism Village is nicknamed the Scout Village. Apart from that, Bromonilan Tourism Village also collaborates with various educational institutions to help market Bromonilan Tourism Village.
3. Cultural Preservation
Bromonilan Tourism Village in the cultural preservation program is a form of activity that maintains and develops local culture in the local community, this program can be in the form of classical and modern dance arts, jamparingan, jathilan, bregdo, angklung, Karawitan and kethoprak.
4. Infrastructure Development
The Bromonilan Tourism Village, with its infrastructure development program, aims to improve and enhance its physical facilities and services. This program aims to increase accessibility and comfort for tourists, as well as support local and sustainable economic growth. To this end, the village provides several facilities, including restrooms, parking areas, and a place for worship.

Based on the above, the existence of this program for the community and tourism awareness groups, especially the administrators, is more useful in improving their skills in managing the Bromonilan Tourism Village. The existence of this program can improve the development of tourism villages and human resources so that they continue to develop.

Participation in Monitoring and Evaluation

Participation in the monitoring and evaluation phase of tourism village development is crucial, ensuring that objectives are achieved and also providing a comprehensive understanding of the issues and challenges that arise during implementation. In this regard, community participation in gathering information on the development of the Bromonilan tourism village is crucial.

Bromonilan Tourism Village carries out monitoring and evaluation of the development of Bromonilan village tourism, which can be said to be ineffective. The results of the participatory interviews and evaluation of the Bromonilan tourist village community at each stage of the evaluation were not significant, but the managers and the surrounding community of Bromonilan can support and encourage the development of Bromonilan tourist village according to the desired goals. In developing the tourist village, the tourist village advisor can provide guidance to community leaders to provide direction and suggestions in the development of the tourist village.

Participation in Utilization of Results

Participation in utilization results participation public in enjoy benefits from before and after development village tourism and the existence of tourist villages Bromonilan as method For participate in utilise the result . Although contribution wealthy society consists of from provide ideas , thoughts and participation in the form of power , but must be balanced with benefits received public start from economic , social and environmental strategies .

Village community tour understand and realize benefit from existence village tour said . Especially from sector closely linked economy relation with existence village tour remote . However based on results studies conducted in the area said , it is concluded that the most benefited population from economic strategy This is residents who do activity package tourism in the Tourism Village Bromonilan . Tourism Village Community Bromonilan Not yet fully accept impact declining economy from the Tourism Village Bromonilan .

Utilization results in participation can help increase development that has been ongoing as in the Tourism Village Bromonilan . Participation in utilization results can help public understand results in a way more whole and further will become part in the implementation and development process in a way more comprehensive . Interview results with informant above , the contribution of Tourism Villages Bromonilan to development tour related with utilization results can give support anything against development village tour and economy village tour .

DISCUSSION

According to Theresia et al (2015;196) Participation public is action take part in activities , whereas understanding participation public is involvement public in a development process in which society follow involved start from stage preparation and programming, planning and development , formulation policies , and decision making decision . According to Sari P (2021:95) who explains that main participation in activities held by the community is effectiveness and efficiency group . In other words , participation public have effective and successful , and not can arrange interest personal a number of group .

Community participation demonstrates the good health of Bromonilan Tourism Village, as demonstrated by its village head's vision and mission for its development. The village's reach to the community is extensive. Consequently, the village has a strong community support for its successful development. Community participation shows from the results that Bromonilan Tourism Village has done very well. The cooperation between the community and the Scouts can help Bromonilan Tourism Village in physical and non-physical forms, as well as support Bromonilan Tourism Village in carrying out activities in the tourism village which are still in the sustainable stage.

However, the obstacle is that those who participate in the decision-making process of Bromonilan Tourism Village are still lacking and more must be done to improve several decisions that have been made so that the results are more optimal for the development of Bromonilan Tourism Village and for the future, the community will be more productive in providing suggestions or submissions so that the tourism village can develop well. At this stage, community participation in decision-making can ensure that the underlying decisions have taken into account the needs, desires, and aspirations of the community.

There is currently no significant monitoring and evaluation in Bromonilan Tourism Village, so it must proceed according to circumstances. Although the participation of the Bromonilan Tourism Village community in each evaluation stage is less significant, the surrounding community can support and encourage Bromonilan Tourism Village to develop according to its intended goals. Active community participation in the development of Bromonilan Tourism Village is crucial because the activities offered there are always carried out, even during construction. The involvement of the community and the tourist village in development is an initiative to improve and expand Bromonilan Tourism Village.

The results of community participation indicate that in the utilization of results that Bromonilan Tourism Village has not provided a significant impact of results so that the utilization of results is still very small, but the problem is that the tourism village administrators are no longer active in managing the tourism village, such as if there are tourism village activities only a few people have free time and can do it. Based on the results of this study, based on community participation, there is no coercion to do or help in the development of the tourism village.

The utilization of Bromonilan Tourism Village's resources extends beyond physical assets to economic aspects, including revenue generation. The benefits of Bromonilan Tourism Village can be used to improve infrastructure, provide services and facilities for visitors, and support various sustainable tourism village development programs.

In the development process village tourism , society around made into as subject active , meaning environment surroundings and social life of the village community the made into as objective tourism .

According to Nurhajati , (2017) The community also plays a role as agent promotion tour as well as innovator in provide ideas development village tourism . According to Yusuf A. Hilman et al. (2018). The purpose of development village tour is For preserve environment nature and improve growth economy in a area so that with implement draft village tour This be one of form friendly tourism to environment in time upcoming .

Development village tourism one of the method used public For develop village tour in a way independent is development village purposeful tourism For increase potential to village tour in a way overall as area object tourism . Every village tour must developed For maximize its potential and minimize its shortcomings , including source Power the water alone , belief religion , and level life its people in a way as a whole . So that society can utilize and have control to development Village Tourism , then public must empowered through negotiations together and negotiation together .

Based on results research , Tourism Village Bromonilan in development village tour as place ongoing tourism growing , many necessary obstacles be fixed . Therefore that , for overcome existing challenges , supporters development village tour must do study as much as maybe . Here a number of the difficulties mentioned above , Potential owned village No appreciated by society village . Population local in the village Not yet understand various problem social , internal, external , and non- physical which can hinder development village tour .

Marketing and promotion , things This important in progress village tour Because in village tour bromonilan not enough in matter marketing and promotion . Need do marketing and promotion village tour in a way active with through various channels , such as past instagram , tiktok , facebook , web circus , brochures , and participation in exhibition tourism . One of the challenges faced in development village tour bromonilan is Still There is a number of facilities and infrastructure that have not been adequate like broken toilets , closed homestays , and food stalls covered meal . Recommended For increase quality . Government village can submit help from government center or look for partnership with sector private For funding project This .

Factors inhibitor development of tourist villages Bromonilan must more noticed and evaluated in a way ripe for tourism the can develop so that in the end will become beautiful and interesting tourism visitors .

CONCLUSION

1. Research result participation public in development of tourist villages Bromonilan happen Because existence factor economy and awareness public For develop village as well as factor welfare economy , society pushed in participate in form thought in the form of innovate object tourism and innovation culinary . Apart from in form mind , society also participates in form skill in the form of manage object tourism , and providers service service .
2. Supporting factors public in effort development of tourist villages Bromonilan that is participation in taking Tourism Village decision Bromonilan Not yet maximum in development village tourism , however , in order to take , decisions This can maximum required existence regular meeting between community and management village tourism , participation in activity or programs created Already in accordance needs and has implemented with Good .
